SOLDIERS LIONIZED BY PARIS CROWDS

Throng That Saw Them March Past Biggest City Has Seen Since War Was Begun.

(Copyright, 1918, by New York World.) Paris, July 14.—Parisians turned out this morning more than 100,000 strong to watch the military parade in Avenue du Bois de Boulogne. All was gaiety and cheering. America played her part in rekindling this spirit, for the presence of its troops in the march past in Paris filled the whole French nation with hope.

he city if possible was even more beflagged than was the case on the Fourth of July. A couple of days before the Fourth all the shops had sold out their stocks of American and allied flags. Since then, however, the flag makers have been feverishly at work, and the few persons who were unable to display any flag made up for it today by going about the streets wearing miniature emblems.

Never since the beginning of the war have there been such crowds in Paris. Mixed in them were soldiers of every allied nationality—Americans—British, Portuguese, Belgian, Czech-Slovak, Italian and some Russians and Rumanians who are fighting in France's Foreign Legion. The "midinettes" had a busy day showering with flowers the men who are fighting their battles. The cafes and restaurants did a roaring trade.

President Poincaré entered the Avenue du Bois de Boulogne punctually at 9:30 a.m., while the band of the French republican guard played the "Marseillaise." After decorating the generals, admirals, officers and soldiers with the medals of the Legion of Honor, into which order they had been received, the president took his place amid a tremendous ovation in the stand erected on the avenue. A few minutes later the allied soldiers started to march past. The cheering along the whole line of parade was inspiring. The people simply gave way to their feelings and made no attempt to control admiration for the fighting men.

The window balconies were filled with men and women waving flags and throwing flowers. Others brought tables and chairs into the streets. Everything and everybody was present to give the soldiers a hearty sendoff in their future battles. Many persons had in mind the German newspaper reports that Paris was in revolution. Everyone was anxious that this parade should in some way or other be reproduced in neutral and enemy countries. All looked for the cinemaograph operators, and when one was seen he got almost as much cheering as the soldiers.

KNOXVILLE CORPORAL WOUNDED IN FRANCE

(Special to The News.) Knoxville, July 17.—Corpl. Isaac F. Sharp, of Knoxville, with the first American troops to land on French soil, has been wounded and is in an American Red Cross hospital in Paris, according to a letter received from him by his brother, Charles L. Sharp, of this city. He was wounded in four places. He writes:

"Well, I got it this time, one in my left arm, two wounds in my left side and one in my hip. They are not so bad. My arm will probably be stiff at the elbow, as the wounds on it are pretty bad."

"I was wounded on May 29 and am in an American Red Cross hospital and getting the best of treatment."

GREAT BRITAIN'S RESCUE FROM PERIL THROUGH BUILDING OF SHIPS RESTS UPON SHOULDERS OF LORD PIRRIE

(International News Service Staff Correspondence.)

London.—Upon Lord William James Pirrie, who was born in Quebec in 1847 of poor Irish parents, and who, through his own efforts, rose to be a shipbuilder and owner of some 250,000 tons of shipping rests the responsibility of saving Great Britain from peril by building more merchant ships. And those who know Lord Pirrie say:

"The ships will be built and built quickly."

Lord Pirrie, now one of the world's richest men, got his knowledge of shipbuilding first hand. He entered the shipbuilding firm of Harland & Wolff, at Belfast, when 15. He was an orphan. The ship construction firm was then only a small affair and practically unknown. It had no real advantages as a builder of ships, for steel and coal had to be imported.

But Pirrie learned to be a draughtsman and at 22 was designing vessels of a new type—vessels that were economical both in construction and operation. The firm grew, and at 27 he was a junior partner. He is now the principal owner and has established yards on the Clyde and repairing establishments at South Hampton and Liverpool. His ships have been turning out about half of the country's merchant tonnage. His present plans call for turning out a completed ship in eighteen weeks.

Although 71, Lord Pirrie has an unusual amount of energy. He is alert, slightly below middle height, with bushy hair, keen eyes and gray hair. He is a genius at organization and is known as a "master of men." His analytical ability is great. He can see the difficulties of a case speedily and solve them. He is punctilious.

Some years ago he was lord mayor of Belfast. He was made a privy councillor of Ireland and eventually received his peerage. He has no children.

Lord Pirrie narrowly escaped death on the Titanic—a ship his firm built. His passage was canceled at the last moment for business reasons.

One of the first results of Lord Pirrie's management has been the construction of "fabricated" ships—vessels which are assembled from parts made at shipyards on the sea, or near it. The new plan permits inland factories to utilize surplus labor and materials in making ships' parts to be assembled elsewhere. Geared turbine engines have been adopted for these fabricated ships instead of the reciprocating engines.

county, only two of them, Varnells and the Ninth, show a decrease. The Dalton plant leads with an increase of $127,384.

DALTON BOY DIES AT CAMP JACKSON

(Special to The News.) Dalton, Ga., July 17.—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dill have been notified that their son, Oris Dill, of the United States army, died Monday at Camp Jackson, Columbia, S. C., and the body will arrive here at noon today. Private Dill volunteered for service, enlisting while in Florida. He has a number of friends here and a large crowd will follow the body to the grave.

"I have been in the practice of medicine for forty years," writes Dr. D. A. Post, Barnwell, S. C. "I came to this place last March, having purchased a plantation ten miles from here, am preparing to move onto it and shall practice there. I find diarrhoea prevalent, in fact became affected myself, saw a notice of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy, bought a small bottle and it is good." (Advt.)

RED SPIDER AND PLANT LOUSE ATTACK COTTON

(Special to The News.) Dalton, Ga., July 17.—The red spider and louse are causing considerable damage to the cotton crop in this county, the pests having appeared in many of the fields. The protracted drought is believed to have enabled them to get such a start as to cause substantial losses in several cotton fields. Steps have already been taken to combat the pests, and while farmers have already lost much of their cotton, the situation is not in the least alarming.

CZECHO-SLOVAK FORCES OCCUPY KLUTSHEVSK

Pekin, Monday, July 15.—The town of Klutshavsk, in the southwestern extremity of the trans-Baikal region, has been occupied by the Czech-Slovak forces, following their capture of Irkutsk. The bolsheviks are reported concentrating at Verkhgudinsk.

SECRECY ATTACHED TO OPERATIONS OF NAVY

Two Alabama Boys, Members Battleship Louisiana Crew, Come Home for Visit.

(Special to The News.) Bridgeport, Ala., July 17.—Oscar and Wade Bogges, members of the crew of the battleship Louisiana, have recently completed a visit to their home here. These brothers on the same man-of-war are sons of Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Bogges, of this place.

Wade enlisted when only 17 years of age and has served one term of four years and has enlisted again. These boys say the way the navy "carries on" is not exploited like that of the army. They say much more secrecy is attached to the operations of the navy than the army, but claim that the navy is the watchdog not only of the fighting forces going over, but of our coast cities and ocean commerce as well. Their part is to keep the ocean clear of the Hun sea wolves which lurk like a coward under cover, and right well they are doing it. These boys are proud of their great battleship and the part it has played in conveying such a great number of fighting men to the theater of the great conflict. They say an enemy is afraid to show its head above water when the Louisiana is around.

The navy never sleeps, they say, and has relieved the people of the fear that the Germans were right when they said: "Our submarines will sink the transports as fast as they come out." Not a transport has been sunk when Americans were on guard, proudly say these boys.

They have now returned to their post to stand vigil over the millions more of American troops as they rush to the battlefronts, and it can be justly claimed that one of the most notable achievements of this war is the successful transportation of American troops safely over through a nest of enemy sea wolves.

Like all good sailors and soldiers these boys know a lot of things they will not tell until the war is over.

The Louisiana has a complement of 1,400 officers and men, and the boys say her and her sister ships lie at anchor out from shore and as the transports appear they hover around then like a hen covers her brood. The khaki-clad boys on deck of the transports greet their guardians with cheers that almost shake the ocean, for they feel secure in the thought that those great monsters guarantee a safe passage over.

Cross, Feverish Child Is Bilious or Constipated

Look, Mother! See if tongue is coated, breath hot or stomach sour.

"California Syrup of Figs" can't harm tender stomach, liver, bowels.

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Syrup of Figs," that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without griping. When cross, irritable, feverish, or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless "fruit laxative," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. When the little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic—remember, a good "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given. Millions of mothers keep "California Syrup of Figs" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeiters sold here, so don't be fooled. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company."—(Advt.)

MUSCLES WERE TIED UP IN KNOT

That Is How Holley Says Rheumatism Acted.

Has Been Built Up in Every Way, He Says.

"Tanlac Certainly Has Made a New Man of Me," He Declares.

"This Tanlac is the first medicine I have ever taken that did what people said it would do," said J. F. Holley, residing at 427 Breckenridge street, Lexington, Ky., some time ago.

"I was in an awful fix for over two months," he continued, "and my whole system seemed to be run down and worn out. Rheumatism was my worst trouble, my muscles seemed to be tied in knots. I could hardly sleep at night and would feel as tired in the morning as when I lay down at night. My digestion was affected, I had no appetite. My nervous system was disordered and I suffered from awful headaches. The rheumatism would draw me up so I couldn't use my right arm at all."

"One day a friend of mine told me about Tanlac and I got me a bottle and started taking it. It has certainly made a new man of me. I can eat anything I want, and this is something I have not been able to do in years—and I sleep log a log at night. That awful rheumatism is all gone and I have had my strength restored and have been built up in every way. I sure am glad to tell others what Tanlac has done for me."

Tanlac is sold in Chattanooga exclusively by the Live & Let Live Drug Co.—(Advt.)
